

Biography

Born Jerreh Jallow with a natural-born talent for music together with his hard work and dedication, it is safe to say that Jizzle is becoming a hot topic in the AfroPop-music industry. During his teenage-years Jizzle was determinate to follow his passion – by starting to perform. He was recognised early on for his natural stage presence and the fact that he was already viewed as a star, the name Jizzle became therefore the best way to state his artistry. Music has since then been his way, developing both skills in writing and singing.

Jizzle is only steps away from making a significant break into the international music industry. As young as he may be, Jizzle have a great experience which has resulted in catchy, vibrant and popular songs. Jizzle has collaborated with the likes of Mr Eazi, Oxlade, Stonebwoy etc. In the recent years Jizzle have been on international tours in countries such as Germany, Italy as well as Sweden, performing at the well-known Selam Festivals in Sweden and the Summer Jam Festival in Germany. His songs as “Turn by Turn”, “Incense” ‘be my lover’ etc have been blasted in clubs around the world, which has resulted in increased demand internationally the past two years. JIZZLE has also been featured on BBC Radio 1Xtra destination Africa a show and Africa 360 program respectively.

Jizzle is a varied artist who shift between rap, dancehall and Afropop where he has been able to find his own unique sound. One of his wonders is that he sings in three major West African languages – Fula, Mandingo and Wolof – as well as English, making him a marketable brand, both at home and abroad.
